

I live in an area where most of the radio stations are owned by the same company. The local AM station spends the day airing distasteful political broadcasts. While I have no need for traffic information, I am interested in the ability to receive alternative views.